

Witness of Rowles Murder Identifies Doer of Shooting

Defense Claims Witness is Incapable of
Identifying Murderer by Reason
of Intoxication at the Time

DENNERY NERVOUS BUT EYES WITNESS

The trial of W. M. Dennerly the "Big Swede" for the murder of John Rowles is now well under way. The defense is making a hard fight and the trial will be long drawn out.

Immediately after completing the jury at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon District Attorney Welch arose and opened the case for the commonwealth. He gave a brief resume of the occurrences leading up to, at the time of following the tragedy and told the jury that the chain of evidence the prosecution would work out for them would enmesh the "Big Swede" at every turn and angle and when completed he believed would show beyond all question of doubt that this was the hand which fired the shot that sent the bullet through the head of John Rowles and ushered his soul into eternity in the twinkling of an eye and without warning to the innocent victim of the dastardly attack. When this was shown the commonwealth would ask at their hands a conviction of murder in the first degree, the penalty for which is electrocution.

Dennerly appeared to feel the effect of the district attorney's denunciation of the foul crime and sat throughout the arraignment with bowed head, neither looking to the right or left during the entire time occupied by the district attorney.

The taking of testimony then began, the first witness called being Earl McHenry, chief of police, of Clearfield borough. He testified to having been called to the Shade shanty on the evening of January 30, arrival there, as near as he could determine, about 7 o'clock. He told of finding Rowles' body lying on the floor with a bullet hole through his head, dead. He said Tom Shade, who was an eye witness to the crime, was lying in his bed under the influence of liquor. He told of the search for the murderers and after cross examination was excused.

Undertaker Fred B. Leavy was the next witness. He testified to having been called and of removing the body to his undertaking rooms on Cherry street.

County Coroner Dr. J. I. Pollum, of DuBois, was then called. Dr. Pollum held the inquest and told of the result of his autopsy and the cause of death, he stating that death was the result of the bullet wound.

City Engineer Hess was called and examined at length as to the map of the scene, which he had made for the trial. The defense on cross examination was particular in having the distances given between the hobo camp along the river and the Shade shanty and had the engineer point out the paths leading from the camp to the shanty.

Mr. Hess concluded his testimony at 5:45 and the commonwealth's attorneys stated that they did not care to put their next witness on the stand on account of the brief time before adjournment. Judge Bell then said he did not believe it altogether fair to put an important witness on the stand when it was impossible to complete his examination and cross examination the same day and thereupon declared an adjournment until 9 o'clock this morning.

Before the jury retired Judge Bell asked after their comfort and wanted to know whether they had any messages to send to their homes, as while ordinarily it was against the rule to allow messages to and from the jury room during a murder trial, by consent of counsel such privilege would be allowed this jury. All messages of course having to pass through the hands of the court before being transmitted either way.

When court opened this morning the prosecution sprung their trump card in the person of Thomas F. Shade, the only eye witness to the murder. In a graphic manner, by the skillful questioning of ex-judge Smith, Shade told a dramatic story of the actual killing. He was positive in his declaration that Dennerly was the

"Big Swede" and the man behind the gun when the murder was done. He told of meeting him and entertaining him in his little shanty on at least three occasions previous to his appearance shortly before Rowles was shot. He told his story in a straightforward manner and in his direct examination was a most convincing witness.

Shade is a cripple, having club feet; and on the evening of the murder he and Rowles were in the front room of his two room shack on Bigler avenue, while P. J. Kelly and Mike Brawley were in the rear room; he said that he had his shoes off and on account of his deformity it was hard work for him to walk in his bare feet; that he had got out of bed and was assisting himself across the room by holding onto a table, box and the stove; that Rowles was standing a little to one side and behind him when some one entered the room by the front door which was also behind him; that no word was spoken but something attracted his attention and he turned part way round and as he did so he saw a man he was positive was Dennerly, although he had a handkerchief over the lower half of his face, throw his left arm around Rowles' neck and drawing him up toward him placed a revolver against the side of his head and fired a bullet crashing through his brain. He said as he straightened up the instant before the shot was fired he touched shoulders with Rowles and after the shot as the form of the murdered man sank from the murderer's grasp to the floor he tumbled backward over the prostrate body and fell to the floor alongside the corpse. The murderer then ordered him to get to his feet instantly and produce his money or he would deal with him as he had with Rowles. He said he scrambled to his feet and hobbling over to his bookcase searched two pocketbooks which were lying there and when he did not find the money, the robber ordered him to turn back the mattress on the bed, all the time threatening him with death if his commands were not obeyed. No money was found and after again threatening him with death the murderer slipped out the front door, before he stepped outside however he called to some person in the kitchen to "frisk the fellow with the cap on," meaning Kelly from whom the money, about $26, which occasioned the crime, was taken.

Shade testified that after the robbers had left Kelly came into the front room where he was sitting on the bed and asked him if he had been hurt and that he replied "no, but the 'Big Swede' killed poor John. He then told Kelly to notify the police and when Brawley came into the room he asked him to stay with him until some one came. He placed the time at 6:15 or 6:20 and said he gauged the time from having looked at his watch hanging on his bedpost when the round house whistle blew at 6 o'clock.

He told of the arrival of Officer Eadie and said he also told him who had done the killing. After identifying the pocketbook from which Rowles had borrowed a dollar in the presence of the "Big Swede" about 11 o'clock that day the witness was turned over to attorney Liveright for cross examination.

Mr. Liveright gave him a searching cross examination and succeeded in getting answers to many questions contrary to what the witness testified to at the coroner's inquest on the day after the murder. Mr. Shade explained these variations as being due to the excitement under which he had labored at that time. The defense endeavored to show that Shade was drunk at the time of the murder and was not clear as to what really did happen; while admitting that he had been drinking the witness maintained that he was not intoxicated. In his examination today Shade stated that Kelly had taken the money for safe keeping about 11 o'clock in the morning while his testimony at the coroner's inquest, as read by Mr. Live-

BANDITS BOARD FAST TRAIN IN FORD TOWN

Get Away With Two Pouches of
Registered Mail but Amount
of Loot Not Determined

DO NOT MOLEST PASSENGERS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—On the outskirts of Detroit bandits last night held up and robbed the Michigan Central Passenger train No. 14 bound from Chicago to New York. The bandits got away with two registered mail pouches. A half dozen deputies went to the vicinity of the hold-up immediately but no clues could be found, and the whereabouts of the bandits can not be determined. Passengers in the train were not molested. Only two men participated in the hold-up. They boarded the train a mile or more up the tracks and remained hidden until they jumped from the coal tender and covered the engineer, Harry Palmer with revolvers and stopped the train one and one half miles east of Dearborn a suburb of Detroit. They then beat the engineer into insensibility by a revolver butt. They uncoupled the mail car from the rest of the train and then let out the throttle. When within 200 yards of Detroit they entered the mail car and with threats of blowing it into bits with nitro-glycerine they secured the mail bags. With the same tactics they secured the registered sacks from the mail clerks. The bandits are believed to have made their getaway in automobiles.

SURPRISE PARTY AT FAUNCE

Miss Alma Moyer was very much surprised last evening when one hundred and fifty of her friends gathered at her home in Faunce to spend the evening in honor of her birthday. Games and music received the attention of all. An excellent supper was served. At a late hour the guests departed wishing Miss Moyer many more happy birthdays.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Max O. Kolbe of Akron, Ohio, September 27th, a 9 pound boy.

right, showed that he said then Kelly got the money after dinner. Another discrepancy brought out on cross examination was that in his former testimony he said he did not remember having seen Brawley after the murder; also that he said he had heard the conversation in the kitchen between Kelly and the man who robbed him while in his testimony this time he said he did not hear anybody in the rear room and did not know whether there was anybody there or not.

The cross examination ended at 11:50 and Mr. Shade was again turned over to the commonwealth's attorneys who made a strenuous effort to repair any damage which might have been made to the story of their star witness by the cross examination.

Dennerly evidenced much interest in Shade's story and kept his eyes on the witness every minute of the time he was testifying. The only time he had anything to say while Shade was telling the story which must be disregarded to save him from the electric chair was during the end of the examination in chief when the court, Messrs Smith, Welch, Gleason and Liveright were gathered around the court reported making and passing on an offer not intended for the jury to hear until the court decided it permissible, when he leaned over to W. H. Patterson, Jr., one of his counsel, and made emphatic denial of one of the telling points in Shade's story. He is showing the strain of the trial and is said to have pined his cell all night.

At four o'clock the defense are finishing up their cross examination of Pat Kelly who was in the shanty at the time of the shooting but who happened to be in another room and was not a witness to the shooting. The defense is hammering Kelly hard for something from him that will cast a doubt on the testimony of Shade which points to Dennerly being the murderer. Every effort is being made to prove that the whole crowd were intoxicated to such an extent that identification of the man who fired the fatal shot would be impossible at this time.

QUARANTINE WILL BE LIFTED TONIGHT AT TWELVE

Permitting Children of All Ages
To Attend Public Gatherings
At Their Pleasure

Few New Cases are Reported During
The Last Week and Health Officers
Think that Further Spread of the Disease is Unlikely.

Harrisburg, Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—The Pennsylvania infantile paralysis quarantine will expire automatically at midnight. Immediately all inspection officers and guards will be withdrawn from the railroad stations, and the quarantine prohibiting all children under 16 attending public gatherings will be lifted. No figures were available today showing the number of certificates issued during the seven weeks of the quarantine, but many thousands of them have been issued throughout the state. Children will be admitted to school next Monday by examination. In the large cities this work has been going on all week. Amusement houses are preparing for full houses tomorrow, and every church will be opened to the entire public tomorrow. Few new cases were reported in the last week, and health officers feel assured that a wide spread epidemic of the disease has been checked.

SAUERKRAUT FESTIVAL DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Forreston, Ill., Sept. 28.—A sauerkraut festival was opened here today with hundreds of visitors in attendance. The occasion was designed to call public attention to the fact that Forreston and vicinity have developed into one of the best sauerkraut producing sections of the country. In further evidence of the fact, a head of cabbage weighing nearly sixty pounds was exhibited. During the day dozens of barrels of kraut, a thousand pounds of frankfurters and many dozens of loaves of rye bread were served free to the visitors.

GRAMPIAN TO HAVE A JUVENILE FAIR NEXT WEEK

Was to Have Been Held Last
Month but Quarantine Interfered and Was Held Up

Boys and Girls of Entire County are Invited to Bring Exhibits of Stock
And Their own Handiwork

The Juvenile Agricultural association of Grampian are making great preparations for the juvenile fair that is to be held at Grampian next Wednesday and Thursday. An interesting program has been arranged for both days. Music with folk dancing will be a feature. There will be industrial and fantastic parades. The fair will be held in the building and grove recently acquired for the purpose.

Every boy and girl in the county is invited to bring for display some article produced by their own effort. From the girls we want needlework, mending, fancy work, all kinds of baking, preserving, canning and pickling. From the boys we want poultry, stock, agricultural products or any article of their own handiwork. It is the intention of the association to make this fair an annual occurrence and it is thought that the holding of it will stimulate interest in the big county fair at Clearfield.

J. S. Briggs, horticultural inspector and demonstrator for the bureau of zoology of the state agricultural department will be in attendance at the fair all week, excepting Saturday and will be pleased to give patrons and visitors the benefit of his experience and research along any line wherein his advice or assistance is asked.

My wife, having left my bed and board without just cause, I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by her.

THIEVES INVADE DENTAL ROOMS AT DUBOIS

Offices of Three DuBois Dentists Visited by Thieves and
Gold and Platinum Taken

NO TRACE OF THE THIEVES

A thief or gang of thieves had a regular carnival period in DuBois on Tuesday evening or early Wednesday morning, visiting three places on the front streets. The particular line of business that was given attention was the dentists, three of them being robbed. In each instance the thieves showed their partiality for gold and platinum, taking these precious metals, but disturbing nothing else. The three places raided by the thieves were Dr. James Davenport, Dr. J. C. Gaffney and Dr. F. H. Bell. Drs. Gaffney and Davenport are both on West Long avenue, almost directly opposite each other, while Dr. Bell is located on North Brady street, severally a block from the others.

Dr. Davenport was the biggest loser, the value of the goods taken at his place running close to $150. It consisted principally of gold and platinum facings. The thieves gained an entrance to his offices by prying open a side door, easily gaining an entrance to the working room and laboratory, where they picked up all of the gold and platinum that they could find.

At Dr. Gaffney's office the thieves pried open the front door, and made a clean-up of all of the gold and platinum facings that they could find. And at Dr. Davenport's they took several gold bridges that were ready for customers.

Just how the thieves gained an entrance to Dr. Bell's office is not known. The door was not forced, so far as could be determined and it cannot be ascertained that entrance was gained through a window. But however the thieves got in, they made a good haul afterwards, taking gold and platinum facings and finished gold bridge work to the extent of about $125.

The thieves evidently knew just what they wanted and did not disturb instruments or other valuables at any of the offices. Platinum is an exceedingly expensive metal, being worth over $1,000 per pennyweight. The facings could be scrapped off and easily disposed of, while the selling of the gold would probably not offer any great difficulties.

The police were notified this morning immediately after the thefts were discovered and they worked on the cases all day, but have not uncovered any tangible clue.

Night-Blooming Cereus Interesting Sight

West Fifth Street Home Scene of a
Large Gathering

About fifty of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Guy V. Shaw called at their home on West Fifth avenue last evening to witness the unfolding of the petals of a beautiful night-blooming cereus. Mrs. Shaw's plant has two of these rare and beautiful flowers on and as they bloom but once a year and at night the occasion always causes a great deal of interest. The second plant is due to bloom in about a week.

NEW HAMPSHIRE AS A WINTER RESORT

Maplewood, N. H., Sept. 28.—Not satisfied with its reputation as "America's Summer Playground," New Hampshire is ambitious to rival Florida and Southern California as a winter resort. Plans looking to this end were discussed by the New Hampshire Hotel Association at its annual meeting here today. In recent years there has been a steady increasing number of people coming to the White mountains during the winter months. The hotel men believe that a liberal campaign of advertising to make known the attractions of the White Mountain region for lovers of winter sports and pastimes, would enable many of them to run their establishments as all-the-year-round resorts.

Great Improvements Have Been
Made in Army and Equipment Through Experience

HAVE FORTY NEW AEROPLANES

By Webb Miller
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
El Paso, Tex., Sept. 28.—With 100,000 state militia troops strung from gulf to gulf, the border is now a gigantic eighteen-hundred-mile-long training camp and preparedness experiment station. The guardsmen are being drilled ceaselessly and whipped into condition as for actual warfare. Out of the tangled Mexican situation the United States will emerge with a new citizen army of 150,000 men.

Not only are the men being prepared but millions of dollars in equipment is being added to the army permanently. When the guardsmen are trained on the border they were only partly equipped for war under any conditions. With few exceptions they would have been able to take the field only after long delay for necessary equipment.

But when they leave the border Uncle Sam will have at least 150,000 "citizen soldiers" ready to "spring to arms before sundown in defense of their country."

Here are some of the material things the "Mexican situation" and mobilization of the national guard has done:

Provided a new army of more than 100,000 trained citizen soldiers.

Added 1000 motor trucks with trained civilian and soldier drivers and machinists. Before the Columbus raid we had but a few score machines.

Added about forty new aeroplanes to the aero squadron with an adequate squadron with an adequate motor truck convoy and automobile machine shops. Two weeks after Pershing crossed the border we had not one machine in flying condition.

Added 65,000 horses and mules to the equipment of the army, including in this the thousand-and-one articles that go with such an increase.

Gave impetus to tests of machine guns, bomb-dropping devices and photographic devices to bring the aero squadron to modern efficiency.

Brought forcibly to the attention of the war department the need for hundreds of machine guns that would shoot. Tests of different types are now being made.

Added caterpillar tractors, traction engines all manner of road building machines, gasoline tank trucks, water carts, portable radio stations, scores of touring cars for officers, etc.

Replaced old-fashioned mule-drawn ambulances with more than one hundred new motor ambulances.

Added nearly one hundred traveling cooking outfits.

Provided hundreds of other needs of an army and thrown the spotlight on the absence of thousands of others.

NO END OF WAR IN SIGHT SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

Only Fear of Allies is That
President or Vaikan Will
"Butt In" With Peace Stop

GREECE IN POLITICAL TURMOIL

New York, Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—There is no end of the European war in sight. Great Britain and her allies are determined to finish. Any step at this time either the United States or the Vatican in the direction of peace can be considered as unneutral and un-German, said David Lloyd George, successor to Lord Kitchener as secretary of war, to R. W. Howard, president of the United Press. Lloyd George said that he feared the United States or the Vatican or Spain and most especially President Wilson will "but in" France and Russia are of the opinion as England. They are determined to crush all militarism. Lloyd George said there were no terms among the allies. The motto of them all is "Never again."

King Constantine will make an important declaration either today or tomorrow is the advice received by the British war office this morning. Among other things it states that the rumor that the Greek king had left his capital is untrue. The king left little doubt as to Greece's loyalty to the great war by her declaration of war against Bulgaria. The king's proclamation it is believed "will be made public upon the receipt of a reply from Bulgaria." The Greek king has made a formal demand on Bulgaria to release its hold on Greek villages which they have captured. The mobilization of the Greek army will be ordered pending the receipt of a reply from Bulgaria. It is expected that the Bulgarians will reply stating that they hold no important territory belonging to Greece then Greece is expected to declare war. The Greek cabinet is drafting an ultimatum.

The British drive of last night of the great Somme fighting which has been raging since Monday morning advanced their lines within 200 yards of Guécourt, General Haig reported this afternoon. The French made no new advances last night.

William I. Swoope To Speak at Berwick

Leaves Tomorrow to Address Annual Meeting of Republican Clubs

William I. Swoope, the silver-tongued exponent of Republicanism and its principles, has been engaged for a speech at Berwick, Columbia county, on Saturday. The occasion is the annual convention of Republican clubs of Columbia county and Mr. Swoope is going to spring an entirely new speech on his listeners. Mr. Swoope says there are so many things to speak about this time that it is like trying to pick the largest peach out of a choice basket of Elbertans. The Columbia Countyans will hear some speech for William I. is some speech maker.

HEBREWS START CAMPAIGN FOR CHARITY FUND

New York, Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—A systematic campaign to raise $2,000.00 for charity by December 1 was started in New York today by the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Institutions. Dispensation of the fund will take place during 1917. The federation will act as a co-operative clearing house both for collection and disbursement and thus hopes to abolish duplication of effort amongst the 100 odd New York Jewish charities gathered under its banner.

Under the regulations each of the participating charities is to have at least as much money applied to it as in average years heretofore. In addition to the fund for this distribution the federation intends to collect a surplus of $200,000 for general work. This brings the total needed to $2,000,000. A decreased soliciting and good will on the part of the rivers, because once giving they will be assured of not being asked again, are depended on to yield the sum aimed at.

ANOTHER FORD JOKE.

Vance McCormack, Democratic Chairman, says Wilson will carry Michigan, that he knows it because Mr. Doremus tells him so and that Mr. Doremus knows it because Henry Ford tells him so. All of which recalls one they are putting over on the stage here. The question is, "What is the latest Ford joke?" The answer is, "Henry."

SOUTHERN MEN SMALLER.

The average weight of men south of the Mason and Dixon line is from four to six pounds lighter than the average weight of men north of it, say United States Marine Corps recruiting officers operating there, in a report received at Marine Corps headquarters today. These recruiting officers have asked that the minimum weight for recruits in the south be reduced from 124 to 120 pounds, stripped.

"The large raw-boned Southerner" is seldom seen, the recruiting officers aver, and, while the men of the south are as sound and fit as the men of any other section, they are usually small-boned and light in weight. The officers point out in their recommendation that some of the best "hikers" and fighters in the Marine Corps are the lean, wiry men from the southland.

HITCHCOCK OPTIMISTIC.

Frank H. Hitchcock, member of the Republican Advisory Committee, has brought back from the West a rosy view of Republican prospects. He has reported to chairman Wilcox his confidence that Mr. Hughes will carry Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Ohio by large majorities. Mr. Hitchcock says that the great fighting ground consists of New York, New Jersey, Missouri and Nebraska. The first two he is confident will cast their electoral votes for Hughes. The second he regards as possibly doubtful, but he is very hopeful of both. Mr. Hitchcock tells Chairman Wilcox that the Republicans will gain two Senators in Indiana and that it is highly important to concentrate the Republican efforts on Nebraska, Montana, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico, each of which has a Senator to elect. Speaking of the campaign in general, Mr. Hitchcock reports that it is going with a great swing, that Mr. Hughes is putting the punch into his speeches and that he is obviously carrying everything before him.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

The searching paths of conditions in a small corner of what might be termed Unknown America is mirrored in a communication received by the National Geographic Magazine from Miss Ethel De Long, of the executive committee of the Pine Mountain Settlement school, Pine Mountain, Harlan Co., Kentucky. Striking indeed is this picture given by the correspondent in her simple yet supremely sympathetic recital of the paternal yearning of a white Kentucky mountaineer to obtain educational advantages for his motherless brood of seven:

A man had just walked in from Big Creek, thirty miles away, to try to enter all of his seven children in our school. He would not leave only the older ones because he said, "If I part 'em while they're little fellers, they won't have no feedin' for each other when they're raised. I want ye to take 'em all or none. 'Tis was their mammy's last wish that I keep 'em together. I'll just do fer 'em myself the best I kin, if you can't take 'em all."

He brought with him an irresistible appeal, a word picture of the seven, and his tale of how he has 'keered for them. Thirty-four years old, worn, stooped, toothless, he has made a gallant fight to raise his children right. He mentioned the children's clothes. "I've made 'em all," he said. "I couldn't hire nobody to sew fer 'em, so I jest made 'em everything they wear, myself. I've washer fer 'em, I've tended 'em, an' then I've gone out in the cornfield to work fer 'em. I've raised 'em as right as I know, but I can't do fer 'em lak I ought."

"I get right sick with the phthisic, an' I've studied about what would happen to 'em if I was to be tuk off from 'em. When I have to go away from 'em to earn a little money, hit's such a dread on me, les' they get burned up at night, s'posin' the house should ketch fire, an' little fellers allus so sleepy-headed at layin-down time. Sometimes I'm afraid to go home."

"Why didn't you marry again," I asked, "so as to get help in raising your children?"

Tears came into his eyes. "Hit's best fer little younguns to hev jest one mammy, an' s'posin' I'd thought to help 'em a-marryin' again, I might a got 'em in a mighty bad state."

"If we take the children, are you going to marry again?" said I.

"No'm, I'm done with marryin'. I jest want my younguns raised right, whilst I'm a tryin' to make the money fer 'em."

"You see, we don't want children whose parents want to get rid of them," said I, "but ones whose parents want them to have a good chance."

"Yes," he said. "I know. That's the reason I want 'em here. You want younguns whose parents has got diligence and with innards to raise 'em toward humanity. Yes, I'll pay ye all I can make fer 'em, ef ye'll jes raise 'em right. I've raised 'em to work. I've worked myself. I begun when I was seven. an' I couldn't git much education. In my raisin'-up hit was one day in school and the next day out; one week in school an' the next week out. I want 'em to git a chance to make their livin'—to live, an' not be bowed under lak I've been."

"No, they don't swar, ner cuss; an' they hain't got no mean ways when they're in mi sight. I've brought ye a recommendation from folks that met ye when ye come through Big Creek five or six years ago."

We were moved with compassion, although our annual pledges must be multiplied four-fold to care for the sixty children we already have, besides the seven "little fellers," from the "chunk of a girl" going on five" to the fifteen-year-old who has hood corn all summer.

How could we resist those faces and the patient father who has done the best he "knowed?" We told him to bring them, all seven. An hour ago he started back on his long thirty miles to make the children ready.

"LEARN AND GO HIGHER"
IDEA NOW TAKING HOLD

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—A big step in solving juvenile problems is being taken by Chicago firms employing boys and young men.

"Learn and go higher" is the slogan adopted by Chicago employers who, following the lead of Swift & Company, packers, are offering inducements and incentive to youthful ambition in the shape of helpful organizations, night schools and branch libraries.

Lewis Atherton, former superintendent of the La Crosse, Wis., state normal school, is in charge of the work at Swifts. "To train the boys to a higher standard is the object in offering these facilities of study," explained Atherton today. "We are offering many special inducements to the youth who takes advantage of the school, and we encourage him according to his aptitude."

"THE PRINCESS PAT"

One of the most enjoyable things about the Henry Blossom-Victor Herbert comic opera "The Princess Pat" which comes to the Opera House tonight is the total absence of the usual unweildy lot of chorus girls common to musical productions nor is it weighed down with a collection of vaudeville players. Of course, there is a chorus, both male and female, and the promise is made that it is comprised only of those who not alone are slightly but are also singers. The nearest approach to vaudeville is the introduction of a pair of dancers of international repute. Of this latest work of the Messrs. Herbert and Blossom it is said that it is a real comic opera with an abundance of humor and a score that is truly a delight. Some good seats still unsold.

N. B. C. GRAHAM CRACKERS

You don't have to coax the children to eat plenty of N. B. C. Graham Crackers. These are not only rich in the nourishment that builds bone and muscle, but their tempting taste makes the little appetites hungry for more.

N. B. C. Graham Crackers added an individuality and nut-like flavor that other graham crackers lacked. This makes them an almost universally popular article of everyday diet.

Prohibition Stirs Missouri

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 27.—The anti-liquor forces have commenced a vigorous campaign to make Missouri dry. The question is to be voted on at the November election, and the Leaders of the anti-saloon forces are confident that they will win by a good majority.

The campaign up to this minute has been one largely of organization. There were two plans originally, the Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U. counselling work for a dry legislature and the statute with a clause that would prevent a referendum vote, while the Dry Federation proposed a constitutional amendment.

The recent primary election in which the candidates of the dominant parties are "wet" has made the first plan useless, even though the "drys" have, as they assert, the control of the legislature no matter which party carries the State.

Faced by this situation the two factions within the "dry's" element are again united and are now ready to begin to campaign in earnest. Quantities of literature will be sent out, speakers will be imported from Iowa, Colorado and other nearby States that are in the "dry" column and it is expected that Missouri will shortly be the scene of one of the hardest political battles ever experienced in the middle West. According to one statement of the anti-saloon leaders, the breweries are working overtime to keep the State "wet," yet several of them already have arrangements made to turn their plants into other lines of manufacture.

The Rev. G. Edwin Berlich, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, says that this is the most auspicious time to undertake the fight for prohibition in Missouri.

"There are several reasons for this," he says, "the first is that the vote will be taken at the same time that a national election is being held, and we are therefore more likely to get a fair count, as the chances of tempering with the election are diminished in view of the action of the Federal authorities in the Terre Haute case. Then, too, there are only three amendments to be voted on. Unusually there are so many amendments that the voter becomes confused and votes against them all to be on the safe side. In this instance both of the other amendments proposed are 'popular'.

"Another point, which the advocates of prohibition count in favor, is the fact that prohibition to be voted upon in 12 or 14 States at the same time. This will give the sentiment widespread and the forces and funds of the movement. The brewers also find themselves engaged in contests to prevent women's suffrage being passed in several other states. Statutes say the brewer is as much opposed to enfranchising of women as to potential prohibition.

"Further looking into the situation reveals the fact that in the past and a half years no spot in Missouri has been in the "wet" fold, although there have been several elections brought about by the saloon interests in towns and cities where the outlook for the prohibition rule seemed favorable."

A vote on Statewide prohibition was taken in Missouri six years ago and was defeated. The "dry" amendment always contended the prohibition of the amendment, at that time was a trick of the brewers and the time was not ripe for the vote and that the "wets" knew it and that reason pushed through the legislature the bill calling for the election.

Since that time the growth of prohibition sentiment in the State has been remarkably strong, more than one half of the population now living in territory that prohibits the sale of liquor. This territory comprised more than three fourths of the State. All this growth of "dry" territory has been under what is known as a local option law which gives each county and each town of 2,500 population, or over, the right to determine by vote whether or not liquor shall be sold within its borders.

From all sides one may hear the prediction: "It will be a hard fight." A survey of the country districts and smaller towns discloses such a strong prohibition sentiment that the brewers are not trying to conceal their uneasiness. Their chief reliance is based on the hope that St. Louis and other large cities of the State will vote up such a majority against prohibition that the vote of the smaller places and country districts will be overwhelmed.

INDORSE WHITMAN

New York, Sept. 28—Now that the New York primaries are over the efforts of the Republican leaders will be directed toward erasing all evidences of discord resulting from the hard ante-primary battle, so that the party may present a solid front in the campaign now about to begin in earnest. Mr. Hughes, the presidential nominee, is to spend the remainder of this week traveling across the State and will be given an opportunity to talk over the situation with the representatives of all sections and all factions of the party. His first address is to be delivered tonight at Saratoga where a State conference of Republican leaders is now in session to draw up a platform and select presidential electors. Mr. Hughes in his address, it is said, will come out with a strong indorsement of Governor Whitman's candidacy for re-election. This is expected to offset the stories recently published, that Mr. Hughes had told friends that he considered Mr. Whitman and William M. Calder, the Senatorial nominee, a weight upon his campaign.

"CANDY DAY" COMES NEXT.

New York, Sept. 28—Everyone is expected to be a "candy kid" on the fourteenth day of next month, which has been designated by the manufacturing confectioners of the United States for the first national observance of "Candy Day." Every man, woman and child in the land will be expected to consume an extra allowance of sweets on that day—peanut brittle, coconut bonbons, chocolates, fudge, or the humble all-day sucker, according to taste. Confectioneries, drug stores and other retailers of candy will be asked to make unusually attractive displays of their goods during the week, so that the first celebration of "Candy day" may go on record as the biggest sales in the history of the trade.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If You Feel Back-
sachy or have Bladder
trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts of filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste, and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush of the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

CHURCH SOCIAL
The ladies of First Baptist church will serve a 10c lunch Thursday afternoon, Sept. 28 from three to eight in the basement of their church. Every one cordially invited. S. 26-2t

Witness of Rowles Murder Identifies Doer of Shooting

Defense Claims Witness is Incapable of
Identifying Murderer by Reason
of Intoxication at the Time

DENNERY NERVOUS BUT EYES WITNESS

The trial of W. M. Dennerly the "Big Swede" for the murder of John Rowles is now well under way. The defense is making a hard fight and the trial will be long drawn out.

Immediately after completing the jury at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon District Attorney Welch arose and opened the case for the commonwealth. He gave a brief resume of the occurrences leading up to, at the time of following the tragedy and told the jury that the chain of evidence the prosecution would work out for them would enmesh the "Big Swede" at every turn and angle and when completed he believed would show beyond all question of doubt that this was the hand which fired the shot that sent the bullet through the head of John Rowles and ushered his soul into eternity in the twinkling of an eye and without warning to the innocent victim of the dastardly attack. When this was shown the commonwealth would ask at their hands a conviction of murder in the first degree, the penalty for which is electrocution.

Dennerly appeared to feel the effect of the district attorney's denunciation of the foul crime and sat throughout the arraignment with bowed head, neither looking to the right or left during the entire time occupied by the district attorney.

The taking of testimony then began, the first witness called being Earl McHenry, chief of police, of Clearfield borough. He testified to having been called to the Shade shanty on the evening of January 30, arriving there, as near as he could determine, about 7 o'clock. He told of finding Rowles' body lying on the floor with a bullet hole through his head, dead. He said Tom Shade, who was an eye witness to the crime, was lying in his bed under the influence of liquor. He told of the search for the murderers and after cross examination was excused.

Undertaker Fred B. Leavy was the next witness. He testified to having been called and of removing the body to his undertaking rooms on Cherry street.

County Coroner Dr. J. I. Pollum, of DuBois, was then called. Dr. Pollum held the inquest and told of the result of his autopsy and the cause of death, he stating that death was the result of the bullet wound.

City Engineer Hess was called and examined at length as to the map of the scene, which he had made for the trial. The defense on cross examination was particular in having the distances given between the hobo camp along the river and the Shade shanty and had the engineer point out the paths leading from the camp to the shanty.

Mr. Hess concluded his testimony at 5:45 and the commonwealth's attorneys stated that they did not care to put their next witness on the stand on account of the brief time before adjournment. Judge Bell then said he did not believe it altogether fair to put an important witness on the stand when it was impossible to complete his examination and cross examination the same day and thereupon declared an adjournment until 9 o'clock this morning.

Before the jury retired Judge Bell asked after their comfort and wanted to know whether they had any messages to send to their homes, as while ordinarily it was against the rule to allow messages to and from the jury room during a murder trial, by consent of counsel such privilege would be allowed this jury. All messages of course having to pass through the hands of the court before being transmitted either way.

When court opened this morning the prosecution sprung their trump card in the person of Thomas F. Shade, the only eye witness to the murder. In a graphic manner, by the skillful questioning of ex-Judge Smith, Shade told a dramatic story of the actual killing. He was positive in his declaration that Dennerly was the

"Big Swede" and the man behind the gun when the murder was done. He told of meeting him and entertaining him in his little shanty on at least three occasions previous to his appearance shortly before Rowles was shot. He told his story in a straightforward manner and in his direct examination was a most convincing witness.

Shade is a cripple, having club feet; and on the evening of the murder he and Rowles were in the front room of his two room shack on Bigler avenue, while P. J. Kelly and Mike Brawley were in the rear room; he said that he had his shoes off and on account of his deformity it was hard work for him to walk in his bare feet; that he had got out of bed and was assisting himself across the room by holding onto a table, box and the stove; that Rowles was standing a little to one side and behind him when some one entered the room by the front door which was also behind him; that no word was spoken but something attracted his attention and he turned part way round and as he did so he saw a man he was positive was Dennerly, although he had a handkerchief over the lower half of his face, throw his left arm around Rowles' neck and drawing him up toward him placed a revolver against the side of his head and fired a bullet crashing through his brain. He said as he straightened up the instant before the shot was fired he touched shoulders with Rowles and after the shot as the form of the murdered man sank from the murderer's grasp to the floor he tumbled backward over the prostrate body and fell to the floor alongside the corpse. The murderer then ordered him to get to his feet instantly and produce his money or he would deal with him as he had with Rowles. He said he scrambled to his feet and hobbling over to his bookcase searched two pocketbooks which were lying there and when he did not find the money, the robber ordered him to turn back the mattress on the bed, all the time threatening him with death if his commands were not obeyed. No money was found and after again threatening him with death the murderer slipped out the front door, before he stepped outside however he called to some person in the kitchen to "frisk the fellow with the cap on," meaning Kelly from whom the money, about $26, which occasioned the crime, was taken.

Shade testified that after the robbers had left Kelly came into the front room where he was sitting on the bed and asked him if he had been hurt and that he replied "no, but the 'Big Swede' killed poor John. He then told Kelly to notify the police and when Brawley came into the room he asked him to stay with him until some one came. He placed the time at 6:15 or 6:20 and said he gauged the time from having looked at his watch hanging on his bedpost when the round house whistle blew at 6 o'clock.

He told of the arrival of Officer Eadie and said he also told him who had done the killing. After identifying the pocketbook from which Rowles had borrowed a dollar in the presence of the "Big Swede" about 11 o'clock that day the witness was turned over to attorney Liveright for cross examination.

Mr. Liveright gave him a searching cross examination and succeeded in getting answers to many questions contrary to what the witness testified to at the coroner's inquest on the day after the murder. Mr. Shade explained these variations as being due to the excitement under which he had labored at that time. The defense endeavored to show that Shade was drunk at the time of the murder and was not clear as to what really did happen; while admitting that he had been drinking the witness maintained that he was not intoxicated. In his examination today Shade stated that Kelly had taken the money for safe keeping about 11 o'clock in the morning while his testimony at the coroner's inquest, as read by Mr. Live-

BANDITS BOARD FAST TRAIN IN FORD TOWN

Get Away With Two Pouches of
Registered Mail but Amount
of Loot Not Determined

DO NOT MOLEST PASSENGERS

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—On the outskirts of Detroit bandits last night held up and robbed the Michigan Central Passenger train No. 14 bound from Chicago to New York. The bandits got away with two registered mail pouches. A half dozen deputies went to the vicinity of the hold-up immediately but no clues could be found, and the whereabouts of the bandits can not be determined. Passengers in the train were not molested. Only two men participated in the hold-up. They boarded the train a mile or more up the tracks and remained hidden until they jumped from the coal tender and covered the engineer, Harry Palmer with revolvers and stopped the train one and one half miles east of Dearborn a suburb of Detroit. They then beat the engineer into insensibility by a revolver butt. They uncoupled the mail car from the rest of the train and then let out the throttle. When within 200 yards of Detroit they entered the mail car and with threats of blowing it into bits with nitro-glycerine they secured the mail bags. With the same tactics they secured the registered sacks from the mail clerks. The bandits are believed to have made their getaway in automobiles.

SURPRISE PARTY AT FAUNCE

Miss Alma Moyer was very much surprised last evening when one hundred and fifty of her friends gathered at her home in Faunce to spend the evening in honor of her birthday. Games and music received the attention of all. An excellent supper was served. At a late hour the guests departed wishing Miss Moyer many more happy birthdays.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Max O. Kolbe of Akron, Ohio, September 27th, a 9 pound boy.

right, showed that he said then Kelly got the money after dinner. Another discrepancy brought out on cross examination was that in his former testimony he said he did not remember having seen Brawley after the murder; also that he said he had heard the conversation in the kitchen between Kelly and the man who robbed him while in his testimony this time he said he did not hear anybody in the rear room and did not know whether there was anybody there or not.

The cross examination ended at 11:50 and Mr. Shade was again turned over to the commonwealth's attorneys who made a strenuous effort to repair any damage which might have been made to the story of their star witness by the cross examination.

Dennerly evidenced much interest in Shade's story and kept his eyes on the witness every minute of the time he was testifying. The only time he had anything to say while Shade was telling the story which must be disregarded to save him from the electric chair was during the end of the examination in chief when the court, Messrs Smith, Welch, Gleason and Liveright were gathered around the court reported making and passing on an offer not intended for the jury to hear until the court decided it permissible, when he leaned over to W. H. Patterson, Jr., one of his counsel, and made emphatic denial of one of the telling points in Shade's story. He is showing the strain of the trial and is said to have pined his cell all night.

At four o'clock the defense are finishing up their cross examination of Pat Kelly who was in the shanty at the time of the shooting but who happened to be in another room and was not a witness to the shooting. The defense is hammering Kelly hard for something from him that will cast a doubt on the testimony of Shade which points to Dennerly being the murderer. Every effort is being made to prove that the whole crowd were intoxicated to such an extent that identification of the man who fired the fatal shot would be impossible at this time.

Permitting Children of All Ages
To Attend Public Gatherings
At Their Pleasure

Few New Cases are Reported During
The Last Week and Health Officers
Think that Further Spread of the Disease is Unlikely.

Harrisburg, Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—The Pennsylvania infantile paralysis quarantine will expire automatically at midnight. Immediately all inspection officers and guards will be withdrawn from the railroad stations, and the quarantine prohibiting all children under 16 attending public gatherings will be lifted. No figures were available today showing the number of certificates issued during the seven weeks of the quarantine, but many thousands of them have been issued throughout the state. Children will be admitted to school next Monday by examination. In the large cities this work has been going on all week. Amusement houses are preparing for full houses tomorrow, and every church will be opened to the entire public tomorrow. Few new cases were reported in the last week, and health officers feel assured that a wide spread epidemic of the disease has been checked.

SAUERKRAUT FESTIVAL DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Forreston, Ill., Sept. 28.—A sauerkraut festival was opened here today with hundreds of visitors in attendance. The occasion was designed to call public attention to the fact that Forreston and vicinity have developed into one of the best sauerkraut producing sections of the country. In further evidence of the fact, a head of cabbage weighing nearly sixty pounds was exhibited. During the day dozens of barrels of kraut, a thousand pounds of frankfurters and many dozens of loaves of rye bread were served free to the visitors.

GRAMPIAN TO HAVE A JUVENILE FAIR NEXT WEEK

Was to Have Been Held Last
Month but Quarantine Inter-
fered and Was Held Up

Boys and Girls of Entire County are Invited to Bring Exhibits of Stock
And Their own Handiwork

The Juvenile Agricultural association of Grampian are making great preparations for the juvenile fair that is to be held at Grampian next Wednesday and Thursday. An interesting program has been arranged for both days. Music with folk dancing will be a feature. There will be industrial and fantastic parades. The fair will be held in the building and grove recently acquired for the purpose.

Every boy and girl in the county is invited to bring for display some article produced by their own effort. From the girls we want needlework, mending, fancy work, all kinds of baking, preserving, canning and pickling. From the boys we want poultry, stock, agricultural products or any article of their own handiwork. It is the intention of the association to make this fair an annual occurrence and it is thought that the holding of it will stimulate interest in the big county fair at Clearfield.

J. S. Briggs, horticultural inspector and demonstrator for the bureau of zoology of the state agricultural department will be in attendance at the fair all week, excepting Saturday and will be pleased to give patrons and visitors the benefit of his experience and research along any line wherein his advice or assistance is asked.

My wife, having left my bed and board without just cause, I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by her.

THIEVES INVADE DENTAL ROOMS AT DUBOIS

Offices of Three DuBois Dentists Visited by Thieves and
Gold and Platinum Taken

NO TRACE OF THE THIEVES

A thief or gang of thieves had a regular carnival period in DuBois on Tuesday evening or early Wednesday morning, visiting three places on the front streets. The particular line of business that was given attention was the dentists, three of them being robbed. In each instance the thieves showed their partiality for gold and platinum, taking these precious metals, but disturbing nothing else. The three places raided by the thieves were Dr. James Davenport, Dr. J. C. Gaffney and Dr. F. H. Bell. Drs. Gaffney and Davenport are both on West Long avenue, almost directly opposite each other, while Dr. Bell is located on North Brady street, several blocks from the others.

Dr. Davenport was the biggest loser, the value of the goods taken at his place running close to $150. It consisted principally of gold and platinum facings. The thieves gained an entrance to his offices by prying open a side door, easily gaining an entrance to the working room and laboratory, where they picked up all of the gold and platinum that they could find.

At Dr. Gaffney's office the thieves pried open the front door, and made a clean-up of all of the gold and platinum facings that they could find. And at Dr. Davenport's they took several gold bridges that were ready for customers.

Just how the thieves gained an entrance to Dr. Bell's office is not known. The door was not forced, so far as could be determined and it cannot be ascertained that entrance was gained through a window. But however the thieves got in, they made a good haul afterwards, taking gold and platinum facings and finished gold bridge work to the extent of about $125.

The thieves evidently knew just what they wanted and did not disturb instruments or other valuables at any of the offices. Platinum is an exceedingly expensive metal, being worth over $1,000 per pennyweight. The facings could be scrapped off and easily disposed of, while the selling of the gold would probably not offer any great difficulties.

The police were notified this morning immediately after the thefts were discovered and they worked on the cases all day, but have not uncovered any tangible clue.

Night-Blooming Cereus Interesting Sight

Large Gathering

About fifty of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Guy V. Shaw called at their home on West Fifth avenue last evening to witness the unfolding of the petals of a beautiful night-blooming cereus. Mrs. Shaw's plant has two of these rare and beautiful flowers on and as they bloom but once a year and at night the occasion always causes a great deal of interest. The second plant is due to bloom in about a week.

NEW HAMPSHIRE AS A WINTER RESORT

Maplewood, N. H., Sept. 28.—Not satisfied with its reputation as "America's Summer Playground," New Hampshire is ambitious to rival Florida and Southern California as a winter resort. Plans looking to this end were discussed by the New Hampshire Hotel Association at its annual meeting here today. In recent years there has been a steady increasing number of people coming to the White mountains during the winter months. The hotel men believe that a liberal campaign of advertising to make known the attractions of the White Mountain region for lovers of winter sports and pastimes, would enable many of them to run their establishments as all-the-year-round resorts.

MANY LESSONS LEARNED FROM MEX. BORDER

Great Improvements Have Been
Made in Army and Equipment Through Experience

HAVE FORTY NEW AEROPLANES

By Webb Miller
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
El Paso, Tex., Sept. 28.—With 100,000 state militia troops strung from gulf to gulf, the border is now a gigantic eighteen-hundred-mile-long training camp and preparedness experiment station. The guardsmen are being drilled ceaselessly and whipped into condition as for actual warfare. Out of the tangled Mexican situation the United States will emerge with a new citizen army of 150,000 men.

Not only are the men being prepared but millions of dollars in equipment is being added to the army permanently. When the guardsmen are trained on the border they were only partly equipped for war under any conditions. With few exceptions they would have been able to take the field only after long delay for necessary equipment.

But when they leave the border Uncle Sam will have at least 150,000 "citizen soldiers" ready to "spring to arms before sundown in defense of their country."

Here are some of the material things the "Mexican situation" and mobilization of the national guard has done:

Provided a new army of more than 100,000 trained citizen soldiers.

Added 1000 motor trucks with trained civilian and soldier drivers and machinists. Before the Columbus raid we had but a few score machines.

Added about forty new aeroplanes to the aero squadron with an adequate squadron with an adequate motor truck convoy and automobile machine shops. Two weeks after Pershing crossed the border we had not one machine in flying condition.

Added 65,000 horses and mules to the equipment of the army, including in this the thousand-and-one articles that go with such an increase.

Gave impetus to tests of machine guns, bomb-dropping devices and photographic devices to bring the aero squadron to modern efficiency.

Brought forcibly to the attention of the war department the need for hundreds of machine guns that would shoot. Tests of different types are now being made.

Added caterpillar tractors, traction engines all manner of road building machines, gasoline tank trucks, water carts, portable radio stations, scores of touring cars for officers, etc.

Replaced old-fashioned mule-drawn ambulances with more than one hundred new motor ambulances.

Added nearly one hundred traveling cooking outfits.

Provided hundreds of other needs of an army and thrown the spotlight on the absence of thousands of others.

Mrs. LeDuc's Hus- band at Her Bedsied

Refuses to Believe She is Guilty of Any Great Wrong

Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—J. C. LeDuc prominent Chicago business man said at the bedside of his wounded wife here today that he holds her guiltless of any wrongdoing with J. C. Gravier at the hotel Walton where she registered as Gravier's wife when Mrs. Harry Bezar shot and killed Gravier, shot Mrs. LeDuc and then committed suicide. "She was the best little woman in the world," he said. "She was drugged and held prisoner and when she is able we will return to Chicago. I love her now more than ever before."

NO END OF WAR IN SIGHT SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

Only Fear of Allies is That
President or Vaikan Will
"Butt In" With Peace Stop

GREECE IN POLITICAL TURMOIL

New York, Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—There is no end of the European war in sight. Great Britain and her allies are determined to finish. Any step at this time either the United States or the Vatican in the direction of peace can be considered as unneutral and un-German, said David Lloyd George, successor to Lord Kitchener as secretary of war, to R. W. Howard, president of the United Press. Lloyd George said that he feared the United States or the Vatican or Spain and most especially President Wilson will "but in" France and Russia are of the opinion as England. They are determined to crush all militarism. Lloyd George said there were no terms among the allies. The motto of them all is "Never again."

King Constantine will make an important declaration either today or tomorrow is the advice received by the British war office this morning. Among other things it states that the rumor that the Greek king had left his capital is untrue. The king left little doubt as to Greece's loyalty to the great war by her declaration of war against Bulgaria. The king's proclamation it is believed "will be made public upon the receipt of a reply from Bulgaria." The Greek king has made a formal demand on Bulgaria to release its hold on Greek villages which they have captured. The mobilization of the Greek army will be ordered upon the receipt of a reply from Bulgaria. It is expected that the Bulgarians will reply stating that they hold no important territory belonging to Greece then Greece is expected to declare war. The Greek cabinet is drafting an ultimatum.

The British drive of last night of the great Somme fighting which has been raging since Monday morning advanced their lines within 200 yards of Guécourt, General Haig reported this afternoon. The French made no new advances last night.

William I. Swoope To Speak at Berwick

Meeting of Republican Clubs

William I. Swoope, the silver-tongued exponent of Republicanism and its principles, has been engaged for a speech at Berwick, Columbia county, on Saturday. The occasion is the annual convention of Republican clubs of Columbia county and Mr. Swoope is going to spring an entirely new speech on his listeners. Mr. Swoope says there are so many things to speak about this time that it is like trying to pick the largest peach out of a choice basket of Elbertans. The Columbia Countyans will hear some speech for William I. is some speech maker.

HEBREWS START CAMPAIGN FOR CHARITY FUND

New York, Sept. 28.—(By United Press)—A systematic campaign to raise $2,000.00 for charity by December 1 was started in New York today by the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Institutions. Dispensation of the fund will take place during 1917. The federation will act as a co-operative clearing house both for collection and disbursement and thus hopes to abolish duplication of effort amongst the 100 odd New York Jewish charities gathered under its banner.

Under the regulations each of the participating charities is to have at least as much money applied to it as in average years heretofore. In addition to the fund for this distribution the federation intends to collect a surplus of $200,000 for general work. This brings the total needed to $2,000,000. A decreased soliciting and good will on the part of the rivers, because once giving they will be assured of not being asked again, are depended on to yield the sum aimed at.

N. B. C. GRAHAM CRACKERS

You don't have to coax the children to eat plenty of N. B. C. Graham Crackers. These are not only rich in the nourishment that builds bone and muscle, but their tempting taste makes the little appetites hungry for more.

N. B. C. Graham Crackers added an individuality and nut-like flavor that other graham crackers lacked. This makes them an almost universally popular article of everyday diet.

Prohibition Stirs Missouri

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 27.—The anti-liquor forces have commenced a vigorous campaign to make Missouri dry. The question is to be voted on at the November election, and the Leaders of the anti-saloon forces are confident that they will win by a good majority.

The campaign up to this minute has been one largely of organization. There were two plans originally, the Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U. counselling work for a dry legislature and the statute with a clause that would prevent a referendum vote, while the Dry Federation proposed a constitutional amendment.

The recent primary election in which the candidates of the dominant parties are "wet" has made the first plan useless, even though the "drys" have, as they assert, the control of the legislature no matter which party carries the State.

Faced by this situation the two factions within the "dry's" element are again united and are now ready to begin to campaign in earnest. Quantities of literature will be sent out, speakers will be imported from Iowa, Colorado and other nearby States that are in the "dry" column and it is expected that Missouri will shortly be the scene of one of the hardest political battles ever experienced in the middle West. According to one statement of the anti-saloon leaders, the breweries are working overtime to keep the State "wet," yet several of them already have arrangements made to turn their plants into other lines of manufacture.

The Rev. G. Edwin Berlich, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, says that this is the most auspicious time to undertake the fight for prohibition in Missouri.

"There are several reasons for this," he says, "the first is that the vote will be taken at the same time that a national election is being held, and we are therefore more likely to get a fair count, as the chances of tempering with the election are diminished in view of the action of the Federal authorities in the Terre Haute case. Then, too, there are only three amendments to be voted on. Unusually there are so many amendments that the voter becomes confused and votes against them all to be on the safe side. In this instance both of the other amendments proposed are 'popular'.

"Another point, which the advo-

catees of prohibition count in favor, is the fact that prohibition to be voted upon in 12 or 14 years at the same time. This will give the sentiment widespread and the forces and funds of the movement. The brewers also find themselves engaged in contests to prevent women's suffrage being passed in several other states. Statutes say the brewer is as much opposed to enfranchising of women as to potential prohibition.

"Further looking into the subject reveals the fact that in the past and a half years no spot in Missouri has been reported as 'wet' fold, although there have been several elections brought about by the saloon interests in towns and cities where the outlook for the prohibition rule seemed favorable."

A vote on Statewide prohibition was taken in Missouri six years ago and was defeated. The "dry" amendment always contended the prohibition of the amendment, at that time was a trick of the brewers and the time was not ripe for the vote and that the "wets" knew it and that reason pushed through the legislature the bill calling for the election.

Since that time the growth of prohibition sentiment in the State has been remarkably strong, more than one half of the population now living in territory that prohibits the sale of liquor. This territory comprised more than three fourths of the State. All this growth of "dry" territory has been under what is known as a local option law which gives each county and each town of 2,500 population, or over, the right to determine by vote whether or not liquor shall be sold within its borders.

From all sides one may hear the prediction: "It will be a hard fight."

A survey of the country districts and smaller towns discloses such a strong prohibition sentiment that the brewers are not trying to conceal their uneasiness. Their chief reliance is based on the hope that St. Louis and other large cities of the State will vote up such a majority against prohibition that the vote of the smaller places and country districts will be overwhelmed.

Our Daily Chat

We try to make each day here as interesting as the day that preceded it and so, like the "moving picture" house whose popularity depends largely upon the frequency with which it changes the reels, we change stocks constantly.

We want no one to be able to say in truth "there's nothing new at Leonardson's" for the self-evident reason that if public interest in this store should fail to be maintained the store will start on the downward path. While value for price never loses its business bringing power, yet that is not all—variety, newness and novelty in stocks are quite as necessary to ensure business progress. HUGHES TO

New York, Sept. 28—Now that the New York primaries are over the efforts of the Republican leaders will be directed toward erasing all evidences of discord resulting from the hard ante-primary battle, so that the party may present a solid front in the campaign now about to begin in earnest. Mr. Hughes, the presidential nominee, is to spend the remainder of this week traveling across the State and will be given an opportunity to talk over the situation with the representatives of all sections and all factions of the party. His first address is to be delivered tonight at Saratoga where a State conference of Republican leaders is now in session to draw up a platform and select presidential electors. Mr. Hughes in his address, it is said, will come out with a strong indorsement of Governor Whitman's candidacy for re-election. This is expected to offset the stories recently published, that Mr. Hughes had told friends that he considered Mr. Whitman and William M. Calder, the Senatorial nominee, weight upon his campaign.

"CANDY DAY" COMES NEXT.

New York, Sept. 28—Everyone is expected to be a "candy kid" on the fourteenth day of next month, which has been designated by the manufacturing confectioners of the United States for the first national observance of "Candy Day." Every man, woman and child in the land will be expected to consume an extra allowance of sweets on that day—peanut brittle, coconut bonbons, chocolates, fudge, or the humble all-day sucker, according to taste. Confectioneries, drug stores and other retailers of candy will be asked to make unusually attractive displays of their goods during the week, so that the first celebration of "Candy day" may go on record as the biggest sales in the history of the trade.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If You Feel Back-
sachy or have Bladder
trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts of filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste, and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush of the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

WARDEN OSBORNE OF SING SING SEEKS CONSPIRACY INDICTMENTS

Salem, N. Y., Sept. 28—The attempt of his enemies to blacken his moral character and oust him as Reform Warden of Sing Sing Penitentiary having failed, Thomas Mott Osborne is planning to bring them to book with some conspiracy indictments, which are being considered by the Washington County Grand Jury, which reconvened here today.

It is whispered that eight men, one of them a former state official, charged with political conspiracy against Osborne. Convicts and ex-convicts, some of whom testified against Osborne when he was indicted for alleged prison mismanagement in Westchester County, will testify in his favor here today, it is said, telling how they were threatened with punishment if they didn't testify against him before the other jury.

The fight against Osborne originated it is said, because his efficient administration of Sing Sing affairs cut out a lot of graft.
